

Freak of Nature

Nicki Basedow

Poetry

Superwoman, you turned up the stars to shine brighter
You want to party, say "Life is cool and calculating"
Your existence smells like sweet perfume
People are all around wanting to devour you like a devil
Keep your spirit free from all lies spun from the web of desire
Everyone wants to be a superstar

Put on your cape Batman I want to see you fly
Dont get caught out when the little things niggle at you by and by

Come down to my level Superman
Cryptonite will sleep for a while
Come feel my love Superman

Wonder woman where is your sting

With you and me this is how we relate

How does it feel to be a freak of nature
Always needing something to satisfy your soul
When water has washed you clean
Come sit beside your freak of nature and learn from wisdom
Love what you wish
Love will set you free
Love is life's making.
